

Arms of a Woman by Amos Lee (capo 4th)

[Intro] G - C - G - D

I am at ease in the arms of a woman.

Although now, most of my days are spent alone.

Em A thousand miles, from the place I was born.

But when she wakes me, she takes me back home.

Now, most days, I spend like a child.

Who's afraid of ghosts in the night.

Em I know, there ain't nothin' out there.

I'm still afraid to turn on the lights.

I am at ease in the arms of a woman.

Although now, most of my days are spent alone.

Em A thousand miles, from the place I was born.

But when she wakes me, she takes me back home.

[Solo] G - C - G - D

Em

A thousand miles, from the place I was born.

C

D

G

But when she wakes me, she takes me back home.

G

C

I am at ease in the arms of a woman.

G

D

Although now, most of my days are spent alone.

Em

D

A thousand miles, from the place I was born.

C

D

But when she wakes me, she takes me

C

D

Ya, when she wakes me, she takes me

C

D

Em (Hold)

Ya, when she wakes me, she takes me back home.

C

D

G

When she wakes me, she takes me back home.