

God Bless the Boy by Cody Johnson (Capo 4th)

[Intro] G G

[Verse]

G G
She won't let me help her tie her shoes "No, daddy, I can do it myself"

Em Em
When she don't get her way she'll cross her arms and hold her breath.

C C
She's a handful, she's a mess, digging in the dirt in her princess dress

G D
Goes from tiny tornado, to sleeping on my chest...

[Chorus]

C D
God bless the b-o-y... that melts the way I do

G D
When she smiles at him the first time

Em Em
He'll be done, oh, he'll be through

Am D
Give him patience and kindness and a heart that's full of her

G D Em Em
And the sense to know just what she's worth

Am D
'Cause ain't nobody ever gonna be good enough

[D] C D G
So, God bless the boy... she decides to love

[Break] G

[Verse]

I hope his daddy's teaching him how to shake my hand and look me in the eye and taking him fishing and busting his butt when he ain't acting right
I hope he's in every prayer his momma prays and learns to work for every dollar he gets and has a sense of humor gonna need it for a girl like this

[Chorus]

God bless the b-o-y... that melts the way I do
When she smiles at him the first time
He'll be done, oh, he'll be through
Give him patience and kindness and a heart that's full of her
And the sense to know just what she's worth
'Cause ain't nobody ever gonna be good enough
So, God bless the boy... she decides to love [Repeat Chorus]

[Outro]

Oh, God bless the boy... she decides to love
